Your Fire Risk Assessment

Unicorns fire risk assessments comply fully with the Regulatory Reform (Fire Safety) Order 2005

Our highly qualified and experienced Consultants will undertake a thorough audit of the fire safety arrangements of your property and provide a report in plain English detailing;

- ✓ Who is at risk
- ✓ Process and building hazards
- ✓ Fire loading
- ✓ Potential sources of ignition
- ✓ Any deficiencies in existing fire precautions and procedures
- ✓ The adequacy of your fire safety measures such as fire alarms, emergency lighting, extinguishers etc
- ✓ The suitability of fire training and drills
- ✓ Comment on the means of escape including building layout and signage
- ✓ Testing and maintenance arrangements

The report will contain a concise executive summary, a Risk Performance Indicator and a prioritised Action Plan to help you to achieve compliance with the minimum of fuss.

We can also help with;

- Your Personal Emergency Egress Plans (for the evacuation of person with disabilities)
- Fire Evacuation Plans
- Fire Safety Policies

And much more.

Our consultants are amongst the most competent and experienced in the UK, as a minimum, they must hold Graduate status of the Institution of Fire Engineers and at least 30 years' experience with Local Authority Fire Services.

Once you have your report, your consultant will be available to you to help you achieve full compliance with current regulations and of course secure the fire safety of your property.

How long will it all take and how much will a fire risk assessment cost?

We are contactable 24/7 and normally we would undertake the audit within ten working days, but if you have an urgent problem - for example if you have been served an enforcement notice – call us as early as possible and we will respond accordingly.

Following the audit, we would strive to get the draft report to you within ten working days, but for the larger risks this could take a little longer.

The cost will depend upon the size and complexity of your premises, but Unicorn is proud of its competitive rates.

It would be our pleasure to work with you and if you require further information or a quote from us please do contact us.
